same route.

As will be seen by the order of march the sould money railroad employes' organizations did not turn out as largely as had been hoped for. The reason of this was due from the fact that the trains carrying the existors left early in, the evening. The Baltimore & Ohlo trains to Grafton and Newark left at 8 o'clock and the Pan-handle train, carrying the Keystone club, of Pittsburgh, left at 9 o'clock. The Mossillon clubs also had tolleave too carly to participate in the parade. The Keystone clubs, numbering 1200, started in the parade, and marched over the route as far as Twelfth street and maln, where they left title column and took their train, which was waiting for them.

Tho lack of cars, prevented the Sistersville club from coming. This club has over 1700 handsomely uniformed men, and of whom were ready and anxious to come to their transportation, which of course, was not accepted. Washington, Pa., and intermediate points on the Pittaburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohlo, suffered from the same condition of affairs. Clubs from Claysville, Washington and West Alexander were disappointed in their inability to separe transportation.

"As it was, however, the parade was an immense affair, and one which realisted the forces. Chief Marshal Baguley, braded the largest and finest looking satisf of allows ever seen on Wheelings, streets. It was a numerous staff, and the members rode as though they had been veteran campaigners.

"All along the line of march the streets were lined with people, but on Market between Eleventh and Sixteenth streets the crush on each side was tremendous, and whose the parade came along, the crush on each side was tremendous, and when the parade came along, the exist of the demonstration.

The Republican Tariff Club, of Pittsurghunder command of Capital John Joyle, marched elegantly and along the route and so did the Lawrenceville wheelmen, who escerted them Both are fine or ganizations, and lent greatly to the artistic success of the demonstration.

Of the Wheeling clubs, only words of the highest praise can be spoken. They were out in large numbers land, drilled and marched beautifully. The Elkins Ladets had their largest crowdout, as lid the H. C. Richards Six Footers; both were cheered glong the route. The Escort club turned out nearly two nundred members, and made a great showing. The Tariff Champions, First. Ward Glub, Flifth, Sixth and Eighth ward clubs, all came in for a large share of the commendation, which was freely expressed.

The Benawood clubs never turned out in larger numbers and never before made the hit they made Saturday light.

The Railroaders.

The railroad employes looked and marched well. The Keystone club and the Huntington club turned out at large the Huntington club turned out it large numbers and it is only to be regretted with the phat the large the line before the route had been balf gone over. The Wheeling boys had over a hundred men in line, many of them having never before marched in a political parade. The decorations along the route whree magnificent and the amount of fireworks burned was, never exceeded in Wheeling. Everywhere along the line, it was a blaze of red fire, while whizzing rockets and exploding Roman camiles were a pleasing contrast. About every other man had a shooting cane, and the noise made by the explosion of the blank cartridges was something awful. Of course the irrepressible tin horn was out in force, and even the indies carried them.

Yellow ribbon could be seen everywhere, and so great was the demand for McKinley badges that every store in the city raniout of yellow ribbon, it was a McKinley night, and McKinleyites were in the majority by many thousands.

Pine Decorations.

The decorations on North Market street and in South Wheeling were espe cially fine. It seemed that each resident tried to outdo the other in the attemp to have houses trimmed attractively, to have houses trimmed attractively. This proved to be a pleasing feature of the day, and was generally commented upon by the visiting organizations. The decorations were elaborate all over the city. Even on streets where the parade did not go, clizens had their homes beauffully decorated. In this respect, the contrast with the Bryan demonstration was great, for on that night there were very few houses decorated. Compared with the Bryan parade, that of Saturday was four times as large and almost every organization was uniformed.

Saturday'was four times as large and almost every organization was uniformed.

The Register's estimate of the number of men in line was the cause of general comment-yesterday, and was laughed at by men of both parties. For instance, the paper gave as the number of men in the Keystine Railroad Employes (dub. 29, when, in reality, there were many times that number. Every organization suffered in the report. Just how such a misrepresentation can help the Poporarial party is hard to understand, when citizens were there to see for them selves, and many, of them took the pains to count the various clubs as they passed.

Democratis, Poporarias and Republicas realize that the parade was the largest and best over seen in Wheeling, and aff the Bryanites can "top it" next Saturday night, they will have to do some tall, bustling, even though they have a specific attraction in the appearance of Vice President Stevenson.

HOW THE CLUBS ARRIVED.

Special Trains Being the Republican Organizations to the City in the Afternoon.

It was a busy day for the reception committee and for the committees de-tailed by the various local organizations to receive the visiting clubs, but the work was carried out systematically and there was not a single liftin. The first club to farrive was the McKinley and Hobart, Sound Money club of Cameron, which came in over the Baltimore & Ohlo along with the railroaders at 12:10 p. m. The members were escorted with them to the Film Grove motor station and taken to the park, where they remained to hear the speeches in the afternoon. The Parkersburg Escort club and color-cal club came in with the railroad em-ployed at 3 o'clock via the Ohlo River-road. They were escorted through the principal streets and to 113 Market committee and for the committees deroad. They were escorted through the principal streets and to 1143 Market street, where the ladies of the Zane street church had dinner awaiting them. The except club was taken in charge by the members of the H. C. Richards Six Footers and the excepted club by the Douglass club of this city.

A large crowd had assembled at the Pan Handle depot to see the Pistburgh delegations arrive, and when the train pulled in at 5:10 with the Americus club, the Tariff club and the Lawrenceville Wheelmes on board. It was received with a hearty theer, A committee of the Elkhas Cadets was present to take care of the Americus club, and a committee of Tariff Champlons to receive the Tariff club. The Wheeling Wheelmen were out in force to bid welcome to the visiting Ruighting of the blie and the result was that when the clubs had formed in line, there was futten a string of them.

The wheelmen took the lead, walking, and the Americus club, escorted by the committee, came dox, with the Tariff club bringing up the rear. They marched along Water street to Twelfth, thence to Main, to Fourteenth, to Market, and to the McLune house, where the wheelmen and Americus clubs were enterialned by the Elkips Cadets. The Tariff club headed by the committee of Tariff Champlons and the Select Knights band, proceeded in Twelfth street to the Odd Fellows hall, where supper was awaiting them, provared by the club and served by the wives mothers and daughters of the members of the organization. Other visitors were served with supper there, and the Champlons descreye great credit for the wark they accomplished.

All the way along the streets from the Sepot the Pittiburghera were greeted with cheers and their welcome was hearty. The McLure house, where the Americus club—was entertained, was mever decorated in a more profuse manner. The office was a mass of bunting and flags, tastefully arranged over the desk were banners of the Elkins Cadets and Americus club—was entertained. The Beliaire clubs took the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling as far as Bridgeport, where they joined with the clubs from that place and marched over to the city, arriving at about half past sev

The Keystone Sound Money Club, of Pittsburgh, came down with 200 members and two bands. The Allegheny branch of the club had 500 men in line.

The Tariff Club quartete, consisting of Messrs, Harris, Feeney, Mullen and Mcliroy, rendered some catchy campaign songs in the McLure House lobby Saturday evening, and favored the Intelligencer with several.

Pittsburgh turned out strongly, considering the fact that Senator Quay spoke there Saturday night, and that there was a big parade in the East End. Wheeling clubs should reciprocate by going there in force next Saturday. The route of the parade was entirely too long to suit the visitors, who kicked hard about it, and threaten never to come back again, It was hard to get the clubs here just on account of the long marches they are subjected to here. It is all very mice to have a parade pass still over town, but when the marcher is considered, it seems unreasonable to insist on a long route that requires about three hours to cover. It was not Chief Marchai Baguley's fault that the route of Saturday night's parade was made so long, for he was in favor of a short one. He was prevailed upon through the petitlon of people living in the lower and upper parts of the city to have the parade pass their homes.
